手机人工审阅问卷

96 条原顺序记录 · 所有人工答案留空

使用可填写 PDF 的阅读器打开，例如 Adobe Acrobat Reader。不要在聊天中的文件预览里做正式填写。

先保存，再开始

1 下载此 PDF，存到手机“文件”中的固定位置。
2 用支持 PDF 表单的应用打开。
3 勾选下面的保存检查框，保存文件，关闭后重新打开。
4 确认勾选仍在，再点击下方“开始第 1 批”。

☐ 保存检查框 不计入任何评审答案

每次暂停前保存同一份已填 PDF；下次打开该文件继续。可另外保存一份带时间的副本。完成后把已填 PDF 发回来，可按你实际填的内容回填原 CSV。

填写说明与评分含义

共同审阅者信息 选填

审阅者编号

researcher： yaxin zheng

实际使用的审阅辅助

人工盲审

此前接触过条件或得分的实际情况

审阅时间 UTC 可暂留空

13/10/2026

☐ 回填 CSV 时将共同信息用于空白信息栏

原 HTML 保留不变。本 PDF 没有获取浏览器中尚未导出的答案；如另有已填副本或 JSON 备份，请一并保留。

Structure selections are AI-inferred from submitted human notes; please verify before formal import.

填写说明

评分依据英文原文；中文只帮助理解问题和前文。你自行判断切分、完整性、事实、时间、相关性与连贯性，问卷不补填答案。

逐条填写

先读用户请求、固定前文、证据台账与首条回复。必要时先查看本页下方“边界参考”。填写 A 至 F；不适用项按原文件跳过，不因回复内容改变适用性。

每组选项只选一项。备注可中文填写。选项的“暂不能判断”表示你尚不能确定，不会自动转换成其他评分。

事实与时间一致性

正确：与评估日期有效的参考事实一致。
错误：与有效证据矛盾，或时间关系混淆。
不知道或未作答：没有给出所需信息，或明确不知道、放弃回答。
无法核验：现有证据不足以判断该陈述，请写清原因。

回应相关性 1 至 5

现有指南锚点：1 无回应或不相关，3 部分回应，5 充分回应。2 和 4 是中间评分。短回复也可以充分回应。把用户的明确约束一起考虑。

对话连贯性 1 至 5

结合固定前文，评估指代、话题延续和最后一轮的恰当接续。现有指南未逐分定义锚点，此问卷不另加评分规则。

边界与证据

raw_first_reply 是程序提取的首条回复。后续模拟生成的 User / Assistant 轮次单独列在边界参考，不并入首条回复评分。是否切分正确和是否完整由你判断，程序标签不自动决定答案。

完整历史事实台账是本案例各回复共享的参考资料；它不表示本条 prompt 中实际出现了哪段历史。

记录值说明

切分确认：true / false / uncertain。
语义完整性：complete / incomplete / uncertain。
事实与时间：correct / incorrect / unknown / unverifiable。
相关性与连贯性：1 / 2 / 3 / 4 / 5。

原 CSV 未定义切分确认和语义完整性的允许值。前两组是本问卷的记录编码，接入 P1 脚本前需核对。其他选项参考当前标注指南草案。

说明来源：PersonaSLM/docs/annotation_guidelines.md，当前草案。PDF 内附原始数据和原 CSV，便于按编号回填并核对来源。

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Parker without adding any biographical claims. The key here is to avoid mentioning specific details like his location or membership in the Willow Reading Circle, which are verified facts but not part of the welcome message.

I should focus on creating a warm, generic greeting that feels personal yet neutral. Something simple and welcoming would work best, like "Welcome, Parker!" or "Hello, Parker!"

The tone should be friendly

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without including any biographical details. The key points are to keep it warm and personal while avoiding any factual claims about Lennox's background.

I should focus on creating a welcoming tone that feels natural and genuine. Maybe start with a simple greeting, then express happiness to see Lennox, and end with an open invitation for conversation.

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without adding any biographical claims. The key points are to avoid mentioning his location or membership details, and to use everyday language like "help" instead of "assist."

The previous dialogue shows Lennox is in Lancaster, but the user explicitly said not to add biographical claims. So I should focus on a generic, warm welcome that doesn't reference his specific history.

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without adding any biographical claims. The verified facts are that Lennox lives in Lancaster and is a member of the Pine Reading Circle, but the user specifically said not to add biographical claims.

I should focus on creating a warm, welcoming message that feels personal and genuine. Since Lennox is a member of the Pine Reading Circle, I can incorporate that as a shared interest rather than a biographical

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without adding any biographical claims. The key here is to avoid mentioning specific details like his location, membership, or ownership of an easel.

I should focus on creating a warm, generic greeting that feels personal but doesn't include verified facts. Something simple and welcoming would work best.

Maybe something like "Welcome, Lennox!" or "Hello, Lennox!" could do the trick. It

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Parker without adding any biographical claims. The key points are to avoid mentioning Parker's location, membership, or ownership of the umbrella.

The speaker style requires formal phrasing and fully written words, so contractions should be avoided. The message should be warm but neutral, focusing on the greeting itself rather than personal details.

I can structure it as a simple, polite introduction that acknowledges Parker's presence without elabor

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Ellis without adding any biographical claims. The assistant needs to avoid mentioning Ellis's location, membership, or ownership of items.

The previous dialogue shows the assistant is careful not to include factual details. The user's request is clear: keep it warm and generic.

I can craft a simple, welcoming message that doesn't reference Ellis's specific background. Something like "Welcome to the group!" would work, but Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without including any biographical claims. The verified facts are that Lennox lives in Lancaster and is a member of the Pine Reading Circle, but the user explicitly said not to add biographical claims.

I should focus on creating a warm, personalized greeting that acknowledges Lennox's presence in Lancaster. The message should feel natural and welcoming, like something a friend might say.

Maybe something simple and genuine,

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without adding any biographical claims. The assistant's response should be warm and welcoming, using everyday words like "help" rather than "assist."

The user mentioned Lennox's current location in Lancaster and his membership in the Pine Reading Circle, but the assistant should avoid including those details since the request is to avoid biographical claims.

The assistant can focus on creating a simple, cheerful greeting that feels

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Lennox without including any biographical details. The verified facts are that Lennox lives in Lancaster and is a member of the Pine Reading Circle, but the user explicitly said not to add biographical claims.

I should focus on creating a warm, personalized greeting that feels natural and welcoming. Since Lennox is a new member of the Pine Reading Circle, I can incorporate that into the message to make it feel tailored

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Ellis without adding any biographical claims. The key here is to avoid mentioning specific details like his location or membership in the Birch Reading Circle, which are verified facts but not part of the welcome message.

I should focus on creating a warm, generic greeting that feels personal yet neutral. Something like "Welcome to the community" or "Hello Ellis" would work, but since the user didn't specify the exact tone

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Parker without adding any biographical claims. The key here is to avoid mentioning Parker's location or membership in the Willow Reading Circle, as those are verified facts that shouldn't be included.

The speaker style is formal and written, so the greeting should be polite and professional. I can focus on the shared context of the Willow Reading Circle and the upcoming meeting, which are neutral and relevant.

A simple, warm

Hmm, the user wants a friendly welcome message for Parker without adding any biographical claims. The key here is to avoid mentioning Parker's location or membership in the Willow Reading Circle, as those are verified facts that shouldn't be included.

The speaker style is formal and written, so the greeting should be polite and professional. I can focus on the shared context of the Willow Reading Circle and the upcoming meeting, which are neutral and relevant.

A simple, warm
